

PERSONAL DETAILS

Birth	May 30th, 1994
Address	Canterbury, UK
Mobile	(+44) 7440762608
E-Mail	am2399@kent.ac.uk
LinkedIn	https://it.linkedin.com/in/alessiomitra

EDUCATION

PhD Economics	2018-current
University of Kent, Awarded of the Vice Chancellor's Research Scholarships, UK
M.Sc. Applied Economics - Distinction	2017-2018
University of Bath, UK
Summer School in Applied Economics	2017
University of Copenhagen, Denmark
Summer School in Evaluating Policy Interventions	2017
University of Geneva, Switzerland
B.Sc. Economics	2013-2016
University of Turin, Italy

WORK EXPERIENCE

Research Intern	June 2018-July 2018
Bruno Leoni Institute (Think Tank)
External Contributor	2018-current
Econopoly-Il Sole 24 Ore (Business Newspaper)
Co-founder and member of the Editorial Board	2015-current
Neos Magazine (Online Magazine)
International Volunteer	2016-2017
Oxfam London (Charity Shop)

LANGUAGES

Italian	Mother tongue
English	Fluent (IELTS 6.5 - 01/03/2017)

COMPUTER SKILLS

Stata	Econometrics
EViews	Econometrics
Matlab	Optimization
Dynare	DSGE models
LaTeX	Intermediate knowledge
ECDL
Microsoft Windows, Word, Excel, Powerpoint, Internet tools

PUBLICATIONS

Econopoly-II Sole 24 Ore (Language: Italian)

L'operazione Strade Sicure, soldi spesi bene?

Sindacato ed efficienza non vanno d'accordo ma la contrattazione decentrata può aiutare

Immigrazione, uno studio dimostra che regolarizzare riduce il rischio criminalità

Incentivi alla ricerca e imprese: quando piccolo è (ancora) bello

Bruno Leoni Institute (Language: Italian)

La fine della televisione non è ancora arrivata

Un manifesto per la smart economy

Siamo solo noi? La regolamentazione delle aperture domenicali dei negozi in Europa

Un mercato del lavoro flessibile è nell'interesse di tutti

Neos Magazine (Language: English)

What lesson can be learned from Korea

The Italian Public Sector. A Comparative Analysis

The Challenge of Public Goods: Defence and Global Warming

The rationality of believing in good

The revenge of population against the establishment

Jobs Act.The Labour Market two years later. (Book, chapter 2)

Epicenter (Language: English)

Ageing Europe

Institute for Policy Research (Language: English)

Doing the Math: Removing rational incentives for populist policymaking